Residents petition board to return $180,000 loan

By ANITA DINWIDDIE

A petition signed by approximately 250 residents of Lakeshore, Clermont Harbor, Ansley and Pearlinton was presented to the Hancock County School Board Tuesday to protest the board's decision not to return the $180,000 in Camille loan money allocated to the schools by the board of supervisors.

The school board had refused an order from the supervisors last month to return its portion of the Governor's Emergency Council loan which comes due August 3.

According to the petition from the voters of the southern part of Hancock County which was presented by Mrs. Juanita Shiyou, the residents are protesting the board's recent action because they feel almost the entire benefit of the money will go to Hancock North Central instead of the schools in the southern area.

"We would want to see the school board keep the money," said Mrs. Shiyou, "if the money would be spent more equitably, but as we see it, the money is all going to Hancock North Central except for about $30,000 for dressing rooms at Gulfview. The last few times this school board has started construction projects, we have been too late to see that they are done right, but this time we are going to stay one step ahead of the board."

School board members protested that the current plans for using the $180,000, if they are allowed to keep it, on the cafeteria and classrooms at Hancock North Central were made because those needs were the most critical for the coming school year.

Superintendent of Education K. G. McCarty told Mrs. Shiyou that the board could be faced with a Right to Education suit as some northern counties have been if the county does not build the special education classes at Hancock North Central. Harlin Hill, principal of Hancock North Central Elementary, also said that overcrowded conditions in the cafeteria forced the school to begin feeding the children at 10:30 a.m.

"We know that you have needs at Hancock North Central, but we are also overcrowded and the enrollment is growing every year," Mrs. Shiyou said. "We feel that it is not right for this board to spend that money on North Central when we don't even have a representative for beat one."

The elected representative for beat one, Oris Ladner, has been prevented from taking his seat for six months by a suit filed against him for an alleged violation of the 1965 Voting Rights Act which is presently pending before a three judge federal panel.

"I feel that although I am not the representative of beat one, that I do represent the entire county," said board chairman Monvel Cuevas. "And the reason that we are trying right now to keep this money is because it is cheap money. We are trying to keep it to prevent the school district from having to pay a three or four mill tax instead of the two mills it would take to repay the loan. We have to have this money to operate, and if we don't get to keep it, we will have to ask for more money which will mean additional taxes."

The main objection of the signers of the petition is that no progress has been made on the construction of a new high school in the southern part of the County. The $180,000 was originally designated for use along with matching federal funds under Public Law 815 for the construction of the new high school. A deficiency of 22 students, however, eliminated the possibility of the federal money. Two subsequent bond issues to build the school also failed.

School board attorney Joseph Gex advised the board members Tuesday that he was trying to schedule a meeting with undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare William Howard Taft, Jr. to discuss the possibility of reapplying for the federal money for the school.

"We know that we have enough students now for the new high school," Gex said. "We will use the old NSTL impact study and the probability of the Navy move to Hancock County and the new Army Ammunitions Plant to show the need for the new school."

Director of Budget and Accounting Francis Geoghegan said Tuesday that the commission would reconsider at a meeting July 9 allowing the school board to keep the GEC funds. The funds will not actually be released until the supervisors come up with a plan for repayment of the entire $675,000 loan, said Cuevas.

Ready for the fourth

Chris Von Antz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Von Antz of Waveland, clutches a handful of firecrackers for the big celebration Friday, July 4. There is plenty more where that came from, too, because Chris' mom, Mrs. Linda Von Antz, president of the Waveland Jaycettes, and other members of the organization are selling an assortment of fireworks for the benefit of the Waveland Jaycees from the trailer on Coleman Ave. Sales will continue until midnight July 4.

Supervisors fail to answer state demand

No action was taken by the Hancock supervisors at a meeting Friday morning following an order from the State Office of Budget and Accounting demanding that a two mill tax be levied to repay the Camille loan of $675,000.

Chancery clerk John Rutherford presented a final audit, prepared by State auditor Leslie Ross, of the expenditure of $165,947.49 which had not been approved by the Governor's Emergency Council. Supervisors Jerry Ladner and Oscar Peterson has requested the audit saying they could not support any repayment plan until they could see exactly where the money had been spent.

The audit listed the following funds which received part of the $165,000 in unapproved GEC funds: general county fund, $53,748; seaway countywide fund, $17,148.49; roads and bridges beat one, $21,341; roads and bridges beat two, $12,500; roads and bridges beat three, $15,850; roads and bridges beat four, $12,500; roads and bridges beat five, $22,200; health fund, $260; pauper fund $6,400 and sanitary land fill, $4,000.

Ladner, however, continued to demand a complete audit of the entire $675,000 loan and not just the unapproved money. He was told by Rutherford that a more complete audit was impossible because the funds had been transferred into other funds and the exact expenditures could not be determined.

Director of the Budget and Accounting Commission Francis Geoghegan told the supervisors in a letter written June 25 that the county would be forced to levy a two mill tax on the entire county when the loan came due August 3. The Hancock board had ignored a previous deadline of June 6 for submission of a repayment plan.

Geoghegan also advised the board in the letter that it would be the responsibility of the county to reclaim the $180,000 presently held by the county school board. The school board has refused to return the money which it hopes to be allowed to use for its building program. The commission, however, makes it clear in the letter that it is not legal for the school board to spend the money, but that it is the responsibility of the supervisors to collect it.

Supervisor James Travirca introduced one motion Friday to allow the schools to keep the money and to levy a two mill tax on the school district only until the $180,000 is repaid followed by a two mill levy on the entire county to repay the balance of the loan. The motion failed, however, for lack of a second.

In other business the supervisors finalized a deal with Jackson Landing Shipyards for the sale of two additional lots at Port Bienville Industrial park.

Port and Harbor director Wilson Webre said Jackson Landing wanted to exercise its option for a 50.7 acre lot at a cost of $126,835 and a 46.3 acre lot at a cost of $115,775. He said negotiations are now in progress for an EDA loan of $1,700,000 to cover the purchase of the lots.

Charles Hill, president of Jackson Landing, said employment will probably increase to 250 from the present 130 when the expansion is complete.

The supervisors also approved a port and harbor resolution to correct a drainage problem on the property of Ansley resident, Mrs. Azaline Thian. The work will cost an estimated $16,000 Webre said.

A bid was accepted Friday from George P. Hopkins, Inc. of Gulfport of $259,800 for construction of the new city-county library to be located on highway 90 in Bay St. Louis. The building is scheduled for completion in the beginning of 1976.

Three escape kidnapper shots

The Harrison County Sheriff's Office is still investigating a possible kidnapping attempt near Toca's Food Store in Pass Christian in which three girls were reportedly fired upon by an unidentified white man.

According to witnesses, a white man in his early twenties, driving a 1969 or 1970 Maroon car with a black vinyl top tried to stop three girls who were walking to the beach after stopping at Toca's Food Store.

When the girls - aged 11, 13, and 17 - refused to get into his car, the man reportedly fired once at them. The girls escaped unharmed.

The man was described as being short and stocky, weighing about 210 pounds and being about five feet ten inches tall.

The shot was also heard by a worker in the store who said that it could have been the sound of a car backfiring.

Foreign exchange

Waveland Mayor John Longo presents an honorary citizenship plaque to Beverly Michelson, a city councilman from Newcastle Upon Tyne, England. The English visitor came to Waveland to attend the wedding of Miss Rebecca Aguzin, at right, a Waveland native who Michelson sponsored as an exchange student this year under a program sponsored by the International Rotary Club. Michelson, in turn, presented Longo with a certificate from his English government.

Chamber provides service for entire community

One of the major functions of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is to act as a convenient place for centralized information said Max Berns, Chamber Manager.

Berns outlined several projects by which the chamber, for example, could assist employers and prospective employees to get together to the benefit of both parties.

He said the chamber has a direct connection to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission which serves as a statewide information bank for companies looking for workers as well as for people looking for jobs.

"This employment information service is just one example of where the chamber can sit in the middle and do some good on both ends," Berns said.

Employers and workers are not the only beneficiaries of the information center run by the chamber, Berns said. At present, the chamber is organizing a centralized calendar of local events at the chamber office. Local civic clubs, service organizations, schools and churches and other community groups are encouraged to report scheduled events to the chamber to be placed on the calendar. Berns said that the calendar would be printed in local newspapers on a regular basis to keep the community informed of all local events.

With politics as the biggest topic of conversation this summer, the chamber is also ready to help in the August Democratic primary, Berns said. He said the chamber had been requested by the Democratic Executive Committee to help in the selection of election managers to man the polls. Berns said the chamber would act as a central information center for persons who wish to help in the election in this way and the members of the committee who will make the selection. He said interested persons should contact the chamber office for more information.

Hancock schools to add special education center

State superintendent of special education Herman White and representatives of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center proposed to the Hancock County School Board Tuesday that a day care center for children age four to 21 with mental disabilities be set up for the coming year in the Kiln area.

The program which will be funded 60 percent by the state and 40 percent by the mental health center, will accept mentally retarded children and children with cerebral palsy on a year-round basis. The classes offered at the center will be in the trainable mentally retarded category.

Mental health associate Larche Michaux from the mental health center said he hoped the school would be ready for operation September 1. It will occupy an established structure on highway 603 in Kiln which has been modified to meet all standards for state facilities.

proposed by the Kiln Jaycees to rename Hancock North Central High School Wendell Ladner Memorial High school in honor of the Nets basketball player and former HNC basketball star who was killed in a plane crash in New York one week ago.

The proposal said renaming the school would "inspire the students to higher levels of excellence and instill a new source of pride in the school."

A motion by board member Johnny Banks to change the name of the school died for lack of a second. Other board members said they were not opposed to the idea but had to consider the financial and administrative problems in making the change.

Fire destroys home

A Long Beach home was completely gutted by a fire which broke out at 9:42 a.m. Tuesday on Fred Allen Road, north of Long Beach said Fire Chief Pete Clegg.

Clegg said the 750 square foot structure, owned by Buddy Allen, was still standing when the fire was extinguished, but that the inside was completely gutted.

No one was in the house at the time of the fire, Clegg said. The cause is presently under investigation by the fire department.

Two engines and four other units from the Long Beach fire department answered the fire which was extinguished in approximately 53 minutes. Mobile Medic Ambulance service was at the scene in case of injuries.

One of the major functions of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is to act as a convenient place for centralized information said Max Berns, Chamber Manager.

Berns outlined several projects by which the chamber, for example, could assist employers and prospective employees to get together to the benefit of both parties.

He said the chamber has a direct connection to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission which serves as a statewide information bank for companies looking for workers as well as for people looking for jobs.

"This employment information service is just one example of where the chamber can sit in the middle and do some good on both ends," Berns said.

Employers and workers are not the only beneficiaries of the information center run by the chamber, Berns said. At present, the chamber is organizing a centralized calendar of local events at the chamber office. Local civic clubs, service organizations, schools and churches and other community groups are encouraged to report scheduled events to the chamber to be placed on the calendar. Berns said that the calendar would be printed in local newspapers on a regular basis to keep the community informed of all local events.

With politics as the biggest topic of conversation this summer, the chamber is also ready to help in the August Democratic primary, Berns said. He said the chamber had been requested by the Democratic Executive Committee to help in the selection of election managers to man the polls. Berns said the chamber would act as a central information center for persons who wish to help in the election in this way and the members of the committee who will make the selection. He said interested persons should contact the chamber office for more information.

State announces forestry increase

Forest landowners who participate in Mississippi's year old Forest Resource Development Program (FRDP) can benefit from an increased cost-sharing rate on most forestry practices made effective May 14 by the Mississippi Forestry Commission, said State Forester Bill Gaddis.

Cost-share rates for similar approved practices under the federal forestry incentives program (FIP) have also been increased for the current year, Gaddis said. According to the state forester the share rates for both programs were raised to more realistically reflect the overall cost of performing forest improvement practices. Gaddis said increased labor, chemical and equipment costs over the past year would have made participation in the programs this year very difficult for many small landowners had the added cost-sharing not been applied.

"Landowners must pay 25 percent of the actual cost of tree planting and other forestry improvement practices under the FRD and FIP incentives programs," Gaddis explained. "The new rates will absorb built-in inflationary cost increases and allow the landowner to continue using the incentives programs at little or no increase in cost this year," he added.

The new cost-sharing schedules are listed as follows:

The Mississippi Forest Resource Development Program will pay a landowner 75 percent of the cost of performing specified forest improvement practices within the limits of tree planting or seeding (up to $30 per acre); heavy site preparation (up to $40 per acre); light site preparation (up to $3.75 per acre), and firebreaks (up to $2.25 per 100 linear feet).

Practice two includes release (up to $25 per acre); heavy site preparation (up to $40 per acre); light site preparation (up to $3.75 per acre), and firebreaks (up to $2.25 per 100 linear feet).

The Federal Forestry Incentives Program (FIP) offers rates identical to the 1975 rates established for the FIP (Federal) program.

Landowners interested in obtaining cost-share assistance for improving their forest land should contact their local county forester or ASCS office for additional important details concerning eligibility, applications and procedures.

Federal incentive program applications are processed according to priority based primarily upon the potential productivity of the land. Applications for cost-share help under the State Plan (FRDP) are processed on a first come-first served basis.

The Keesler Air Force Base Drum and Bugle Corps performs a patriotic salute at the Long Beach bicentennial celebration

Tuesday. The program honored both the history of the United States and the history of the city of Long Beach.

Waveland plant granted use of Edwards Bayou

Permission was given Monday to the city of Waveland by the Air and Water Pollution Commission to dump effluent from the new sewerage waste disposal plant into Edwards Bayou, a branch of the Jourdan River.

Approval was granted at the public hearing over the opposition of the Jourdan River Anti-Pollution Association who urged the city to find an alternative to dumping the effluent into a natural stream.

Michael Haas, attorney for the Jourdan River group, asked the commission not to grant the city permission to dump until the results of an Environmental Protection Agency 201 study, which is presently being conducted by engineering firms from the county and both cities, are known. The study is designed to collect data on the feasibility of a countywide sewerage system and will be completed in September.

Engineering firms working on the project are Burk and associates, representing Bay St. Louis, Lewis and Eaton, representing Waveland and DeLaurel Engineers, representing the county.

The Jourdan River group has opposed the $2 million Waveland treatment plant from its early stages because of its plan to dump its effluent into Edwards Bayou. The secondary treatment plant was originally designed to handle the sewage of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, but will now only serve Waveland when it begins operation in late August or early September. Bay St. Louis pulled out of the project because of lack of funds.

"I think that everyone is in agreement with the Jourdan River group that it would be better to use some other means to dispose of the waste," said Mayor Longo. "And we intend to give preference to the 201 study when it is complete, but until it is finished, this seems to be the best method."

Stevens describes Hancock history

Some of the men of the famous pirate Jean Lafitte were caught and hanged in Hancock County in 1819, according to an expert in the history of the Gulf Coast.

M. James Stevens, the vice-president of the History Wing of the Mississippi Coast Historical and Genealogical Society and a member of the board of directors of the Mississippi Historical Society, was the guest speaker at the Hancock County Historical Society's monthly meeting June 26 at the Gulf

National Bank Civic Room in Bay St. Louis.

Another point of interest was when Stevens said there were only 10-12 families that settled in the Bay St. Louis area 110 years after the area was "discovered" in 1699. Stevens also said that Hancock County contributed two regiments to the Rebel cause during the Civil War.

According to Stevens, Hancock County became a part of the Mississippi territory in 1812, and he also elaborated on some of the early Spanish land grants.

The historical society meets on the fourth Thursday of each month to further the study of the area's history.

Bay ranks high in building volume

The city of Bay St. Louis ranks third among nine coastal cities in the dollar volume of building permits for May according to a report prepared by the Gulf Coast branch of the Mississippi Research and Development Center in Gulfport.

Bay St. Louis lists a dollar volume of $231,350 which is beaten by only two cities, Ocean Springs with a total of $358,074 and Gulfport reporting $251,891. Other cities in the report are Moss Point, $191,900; Waveland, $174,613; Pascagoula, $168,849; Long Beach, $124,870; Biloxi $110,463 and Pass Christian $20,629.

The Bay St. Louis mayor's office lists the following per capita values for the nine coastal cities using the population of each community according to the 1970 census as a base: Waveland, $54.98; Bay St. Louis, $34.26; Long Beach, $20.24; Moss Point, $9.93; Ocean Springs, $9.05; Pass Christian, $6.92; Pascagoula, $6.19; Gulfport, $6.18 and Biloxi, $2.28.

Lott predicts bright future for Long Beach

By BOB INNES
Long Beach Bureau
Long Beach will be a focal point of the Gulf Coast's future growth and success, said Trent Lott in a bicentennial address in Long Beach Tuesday.

Some 250 people attended the celebration of the bicentennial in Long Beach which featured the 5th district congressman as guest speaker.

Lott said that this country has a "special form of government and more freedom than any other country." The Clark County native also issued a strong plea for citizens to exercise their voting privilege.

Figures show that 60 percent of all registered voters in America in 1974 did not vote, and yet people complain about the way government is being run. We need to vote and do something about it," the congressman said.

Mayor Sam Maxwell accepted a bicentennial flag from Lott on behalf of Perry Snyder, director of the Mississippi American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

A featured part of the program was the reenactment of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by senior citizens complete with colorful 1800 costumes.

The raising of the bicentennial flag was conducted by Daughters and Sons of the American Revolution.

Other events on the program celebrating Long Beach's bicentennial included a performance by the Keesler Air Force Base Drum and Bugle Corps, the presentation of the colors by local Boy Scout Troop No. 302, the singing of "God Bless America," was led by Ms. Elmda Fairley and Ms. Frances Nettles.

City officials were on hand along with the Long Beach Police and Fire Departments.

A discussion of the history of Long Beach revealed that Mayor Sam Maxwell's great grandfather was the third mayor of Long Beach which was incorporated as a city in 1904.

The history also included a discussion of the several names of the city before its incorporation.

It is generally agreed that the investigation of sex crimes is in the final analysis a field for highly specialized personnel. The same is true for almost all of the segregated fields of criminal investigation, however, it is noticeable in a much greater degree in the field of sex crimes, than in the other specialized classifications.

The sex urge, or instinct, in the human being is a most powerful force. It embraces all of the emotions and passion that go to make up men and women at their worst or at their best. It is a subject of such complex nature that the fine line that exists between the normal man and woman and the sex offender, or the sex pervers, is noticeable only to the highly trained individual, and many times there is no clear delineation even to the recognized authorities. I believe that it is essential for an individual who has anything at all to do with the investigation of sex crimes to have some knowledge of the mental process of certain types of offenders.

It is my desire that you understand that I am not posing as a psychiatrist but only passing on information, gleaned from recognized authorities.

It is my intention that the Sheriff's Department personnel be educated in this field so that they will be in a more advantageous position to handle the practical problems posed by the circumstances surrounding most sex crime investigations, whether in the position of radio car patrolman, who in most cases, being first on the scene, makes the initial investigation, or whether the assigned investigator who will carry the particular case to a conclusion.

Just as one must know the law in order to enforce it, surely one must know criminal investigation in order to recognize the symptoms of a sick criminal.

NSTL announces success in first test

The first ignition test of the main chamber of the Space Shuttle Main Engine (SSME) was successfully conducted by the Rocketdyne Division of Rockwell International Corporation at the NSTL facility in Hancock County June 24.

The test was the beginning of a series of progressively higher thrust tests. The first full scale engine test is scheduled for later this summer.

Paul N. Fuller, Rocketdyne's resident SSME manager at the Bay St. Louis facility, said all test objectives were achieved in the initial firing.

The engine has been undergoing an extensive series of checks since its arrival at NSTL in March. Before the main chamber test firing, six tests were held, including ignition of the spark igniters and two preburners.

The SSME is being developed for NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center by Rocketdyne. It is the most advanced liquid-fueled rocket engine ever built and the first to use an electronic digital computer for control of all its functions, Fuller said.

The engines, three of which will be used on each space shuttle orbiter, develop a thrust of 470,000 lbs. each. With a normal mission burn time of eight minutes and an estimated lifetime of 7½ hours, the engine is designed to be reused up to 55 times between overhauls.

North Long Beach launches volunteer fire program

Residents of the community north of Long Beach have formed a North Long Beach Volunteer Fire Department to relieve the Long Beach fire department and provide fire protection for the 11,000 people.

According to Long Beach Mayor Sam Maxwell, the 7,000 Long Beach residents have been paying for fire protection for about 18,000 people. He appeared recently before the Harrison County Board of Supervisors for relief.

Wade Guice, Harrison County Civil Defense Director said the volunteer fire department was chartered on April 4. Incorporators are John Johnson, Michael Risley, and Jack Patton all of north Long Beach.

Treasurer Jack Patton said Tuesday that the land hasn't cleared the mortgage co. of McGuire-Edwards. "That's what's holding us up," Patton explained.

Patton said the men are hoping for a metal building but that until the land is cleared nothing can be done.

Located on Commission Road next to a convenience foodstore the department currently has 15 volunteers.

The location is not geographically centralized in the proposed service area, but it's about as centralized as possible according to population distribution," said Patton.

According to Patton as soon as the land is finalized a public meeting will be held to solicit donations and memberships.

The station will depend largely on donations from residents of the area for its operating capital.

"We have a headstart on funding," Patton explained. "The station already has $7000 and is looking at trucks and receiving brochures from interested companies."

Fire Chief is Mike Risley, Assistant Fire Chief is Jackie Dearman, president is Ceville Ladner, vice president is Ronald Cuevas and secretary is Jim Knowles. Risley has had experience with a fire department in New Jersey before coming to the coast.

Jaycees starting up again

Young men between the ages of 18 and 30 have a chance to get involved in the Long Beach community, according to the Jaycee president of the Long Beach chapter, Cris Carruba.

"We're starting the club again because in the past few years it hasn't been very active," Carruba stated.

The club meets every Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Jaycee hall across the street from Long Beach High School.

Since it's summer time, the Jaycees have planned many fund-raising activities, starting with a booth at the Gulfport Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo. The men have also planned a political rally and a shrimp boil for July 27.

In addition, the Jaycees will sponsor a softball tournament in early August.

Carruba explained that many other activities are still in the planning stages and that "we need all the members and support we can get."

Yearly dues are $20. All interested persons should contact Bob Innes, publicity chairman, at 863-2807.

Robert Gavagnie, a Bay St. Louis fireman, was named by Mayor Warren Carver to succeed Richard Fayard as the city's fire chief.

The appointment, which became effective Tuesday, did not have to be approved by the Bay St. Louis city council.

Fayard, in his letter of resignation, said that his $650 monthly salary was inadequate, and he also complained of the mayor trying to run his department.

ELECT RINGER "RAY" STIGLET SUPERVISOR BEAT 4

HANCOCK COUNTY

Dear Voter:

I would like to take this opportunity to convey a better understanding of my 1975 platform for the candidacy of Supervisor of Beat 4 in Hancock County.

Through this letter, I hope to reach every voter and let them know how I feel about the needs in Beat 4. I am truly sorry that it's not possible to meet every voter and talk to them personally concerning my platform.

I hope this letter will prove my diligent interest in our county and the need confronting our people.

My platform is as follows:

1. Efficiency in county government.
2. Honesty and integrity in county government.
3. Industry promotion in order to have more high paying jobs right here in our county so our young people and citizens won't have to leave our county in search of jobs.
4. Special emphasis on school improvements.
5. Tourist attractions to bring money into our community due to the by-passing of Bay St. Louis by Interstate 10.
6. No bond issues without referendum.
7. Cooperate with all agencies to provide aid to the aged whenever dispersed.
8. Better upkeep of beaches for our community and tourist trade.
9. Improve and repair county roads and drainage in every part of the district.
10. Pay county employees a livable wage.
11. Better communication between Board of Supervisors and county citizens.
12. Devote full time to the job.

These things can be made possible by working together.

Your support and vote will be greatly appreciated in my second upcoming campaign.

Lifelong resident of Hancock County, married to the former Carol Speer and have one son, Jeffrey.

CASUAL AND NEAT FASHIONS FOR BOYS

In boy's wear, there's new fashion interest for spring and summer plus easy-care.

Since white and ecru are becoming the most popular ground color for tone-on-tones and pattern-on-patterns, machine washability is a much-wanted feature. White pants have also become popular as have light shades such as cream and bottle green. These shades are seen in coordinates and add contrast to the outfit.

Solid colors are more important. Geometrics and stripes are edging out plaids which will be more subtle this season. The most popular surface texture is the linen look.

Shiny polished chinos are new, while denims and chambrays continue in coordinates. Textured polyesters and polyester-cotton blends still offer desired washability.

In sport shirts there is a wide variety of weaves and knits. Choose from batik prints in loose sleeved ethnic styling, hooded team shirts with striped sleeves, or sleek shirts featuring epaulets and top-stitching in a linen or denim-type fabric. Denim knits offer collarless placket designs. Paneled nylon shirts have art deco overtones, while brilliantly printed t-shirts with exotic animals vie with comic strip hero appliqued motifs.

For dress wear, it's the leisure suit in '75. This gives a casual, yet put-together look and comes in several variations with lined or unlined jackets. The coat may be tailored with full coat sleeves, split yoke and two or four pockets.

Safari jackets, CPO's blazer styles and the uniform look in khaki are coordinated with solids of neat floral and leaf patterns for an outdoor effect. Western leisure suits in chambray polyester and cotton blend boast pointed yoke and stitched shirttails on the jacket.

Shirts sporting continental collars are seen as teammates for the leisure suit. There is no top button, the placket being exchanged for a slightly V-neck that buttons below in the conventional manner. This open collar shirt is designed to be worn over the collar and lapel of the suit jacket.

All in all the Summer and Fall of 1975 offer an interesting variety of boys clothes.

Guest Editorial

Tomorrow, July 4, all patriotic Americans will either give or attend a birthday party. Independence Day, the birthday of the United States of America. Independence Day - the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence by the Continental Congress.

The theme of a birthday party is pretty much set by the people planning and giving the celebration. To some, the Fourth of July is hailed as a long weekend for the pursuit of happiness. To some, it's a time for firing guns, cannons, and just ordinary fireworks. "The Safe and Sane Fourthers" encourage community activities such as programs, parades, games and pageants. Neighborhood groups and families opt for a picnic or a day on the beach or exploring the woods and camp sites.

All of this is just another way of saying Americans have the right, the independence to choose how they will spend this federal holiday. Whatever the choice of expressing thanks for our many freedoms, patriotic Americans will look long and reverently at the Flag of the United States, will remember the courageous men and women whose sacrifices made possible these freedoms and will feel an extra surge of pride because tomorrow, Friday, July 4, 1975 officially marks the beginning of our Bicentennial Celebration.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

The regular monthly meeting of the newly formed Historical Society of Hancock County was held last week with James Stevens the featured speaker. Stevens is the proprietor of the Confederate Inn at Gulfport and has more knowledge of the Gulf Coast stored in his head than anyone we know of. The occasion, coming on the eve of our national holiday, and the beginning of our summer season, brought to mind scenes from the past.

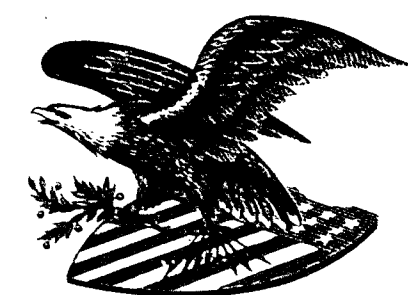

One such scene, often repeated, was the celebration of the glorious Fourth at many of the resort hotels along the coast which began early in the morning with the reading of the Declaration of Independence and welcoming of the new guests who had just arrived on the steamboat from New Orleans, followed by games, music and a hearty lunch. In the afternoon the usual siesta time was taken over, as one guest relates, by "speeches, recitations, and vocal offerings by the young ladies", and in the evening there was usually a dance at the biggest hotel.

Yes, those were the days on the Gulf Coast! And here they are with us again! "Summer is a-cumin in, Loud sing cuckoo!" Long, lazy afternoons, just right for a peaceful jog in a smart turnout into the cool piney woods or down the beach to "watch the corn grow" at someone's big plantation, and back home for a supper of shrimp and crayfish, and a long evening of casual talk while watching the moonlight sparkle on the little breakers caressing the beach.

It was on one of these Fourth of July's that the noted historian, J.F.H. Claiborne, made his farewell public appearance when he spoke at a centennial rally in Bay St. Louis in 1876, pleading for national unity and an end to sectional animosities - a curious choice of subjects, in view of Claiborne's checkered record during the war. The citizens greeted his speech with polite indifference, and Claiborne retired again to his estates at Natchez and Laurel Wood to finish writing his history of Mississippi.

Mr. Stevens, backed by interesting old maps of the region, related the progress of the development of white settlement along the coast up to the time of the naval engagement off Bay St. Louis and the take-over from the Indians in the 1830's. The next meeting of the new Historical Society is scheduled for August 24th.

Bicentennial News

By JOE PILET

"Necessity is the Mother of Invention," a sentence carefully written in copy books by school children of yesteryears, is a truism applicable to Colonial, or Early American furniture.

Pride in the artifacts of our own heritage is evidenced in home throughout the United States where cherished furniture fashioned of pine, in combination with various hard woods of the areas, is given focal points in home-decorations.

The settlers were faced with sundry problems in addition to trying to get along with the Indians, discovering what crops would best grow and how to adjust to new and strange surroundings. Their homes were small, and there was need for storage spaces and for dual purpose furniture.

Of necessity our forefathers fashioned many excellent pieces of dual-purpose furniture and modified European designs to meet the needs of the day. A prime example is the pine settle-bed. A bench by day, a bed by night.

Table boxes are also prized survivors. They answered the purpose of providing storage space, and the overhanging lid formed a smooth top-surface. These boxes measured in the neighborhood of 2 1/2 inches in length, were approximately 10 inches high, and about 19 inches deep.

A variety of cupboards were invented including the key cupboard, table cupboards, hanging cupboards, desk boxes, table cabinets, and spice racks. The attractive tile-top tables, gate leg tables, tuck-away tables and corner cabinets were ingeniously created to answer the domestic problem of small rooms.

Men and older boys in the homes frequently made useful furniture - kitchen furnishings, chairs, crude beds, but the masters and journeymen are credited with the refinement and for the prized collector items.

These old masters were shockingly underpaid for their services; and, as early as 1794, a group of cabinet makers in Philadelphia set prices they would charge and how much they would pay their journeymen.

A similar uniform price-wage scale evidence suggests that price fixing and wage paying was practiced in many American cities.

Finally, in 1794, the first major book of rates to be published appeared under the title THE JOURNEYMEN CABINET AND CHAIR MAKERS PHILADELPHIA BOOK OF PRICES. There was a call for higher wages to offset the rising costs of living. Journeymen then organized as a Federal Society of Cabinet Makers, calling upon citizens for support.

Not unlike today's organized labor, journeymen refused to work with those who would not observe the rules prescribed as "fair practices." In the end the journeymen received on an average about a dollar for an eleven hour day of work and the masters retail price mark up was from 100 to 400 percent above the cost of labor.

Furniture makers of the Federal Period were interdependent, employing sawyers to cut the logs and independent craftsmen to perform jobs in which they specialized. Mail orders for furniture came from distant places. Cargoes of American-made furniture went to the Caribbean, South America, Africa, and even to India!

Aside from furniture, the making of coffins was standard practice and craftsmen in wood made wash tubs, ironing boards, crutches, handles for tea pots and clothes pounders. Everyday serviceable items were status symbols and a well-made candle table was then, as it is now, a treasured item.

Fashions have changed frequently since the first permanent homes were erected during the 17th century. For some periods of fashion that lovely old furniture of early Americans was stored, junked, or in cases used as fire wood!

Today, well - have you noticed the number of Antique Shops all over the country? Have you noticed the prices? Yes, indeed, we do have a past to honor.

THE PRICE OF GASOLINE

Many constituents have written and asked tough questions about the so-called energy crisis. They want to know everything from the future price of gasoline to the availability of gasoline.

I had the opportunity last week to put those very questions to John Hill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Administration. He didn't duck a single question.

"We've all heard rumors about a ten or twenty cent a gallon increase in the price of gasoline by the end of this summer," I began. "Is there any truth to those rumors?"

"Not at all," he told Congressman Jack Edwards and me rather emphatically during the taping of a 30-minute television program. "In fact, that scares us. The more people talk like that, the more the big distributors will try to buy up the gasoline and then we'll have problems."

"No, we expect nothing more than a three or four cent increase and we expect that to fall off by sometime this fall."

"You can repeat that three or four times if you want," I jokingly told him.

"Do we have a gasoline shortage?" I asked Hill, citing the fact that some oil refineries are curtailing production.

"There should be no objective reason for a gasoline shortage," he replied. "The low refinery runs merely indicate our nation's actual economic slowdown."

Hill did concede that if gasoline sales continue to jump this summer, he could be singing an entirely different tune six months from now. He pointed to the fact that gasoline sales historically jump during the summer months and everyone knows that supply goes down when demand goes up.

He noted that gasoline sales in the last two weeks alone have increased dramatically. In fact, sales one week this summer hit 7.2 million barrels a day, almost equalling the 1973 peak of 7.25 million barrels a day.

Is the energy crunch a hoax contrived and manipulated by the big oil companies?

"From time to time, we find companies doing something they aren't allowed to do," he replied. "But we've never found a case with criminal intent. There have been misunderstandings about our regulations. But even though you read a lot of stories about manipulation, we've yet to find the first case of criminal intent."

"What about those Ma and Pa service stations?" I asked, referring to those small, often rural, combination service station-grocery stores. "Many of them are being ruined, and I don't like that. Now, isn't this an area where FEA could help?"

"Yes and we've helped some two or three hundred stations with that very problem," he replied. "And we're always looking for situations like that where we can help."

"From the long-range standpoint, what is the availability of foreign oil supply?" Congressman Jack Edwards asked.

"Well, we don't expect another embargo over the next four or five years unless another war breaks out," Hill replied. "If war does break out, we do expect another embargo."

With time for one last question, I put this one to him: "We know that we've got to make greater use of coal. How long before we can expect help from other energy sources?"

"By 1990, solar energy will supply only one per cent of our energy needs," he answered. "We need to rely on nuclear, coal and oil in the future, but over the long period of time, nuclear will have to be the primary energy source of this nation."

Our Readers Write

Letter to Mayor Carver
City of Bay St. Louis

I am taking this means to make my request public, as I have spoken to both Mayor Carver and Commissioner Ladner many times. In my conversations with both I was promised that the public road listed as Bayou Gallere Road, which runs in front of my home, would be repaired.

As of this date, it still remains in a deplorable condition and now is very close to being impassable. I have no other recourse than to publicly voice my plea again to repair the road.

If I had been told that the road was not scheduled for repair yet it would have been a different matter; but, to be promised the repair would be scheduled soon (and that was many, many months ago) - to me is just a "put-off."

I have been a rather patient man and calmly waited, but my patience is wearing thin. I will continue to use my "freedom of speech" in efforts to have the road repaired.

As a taxpayer and life-long resident of Hancock County and the annexed area (area annexed over six years ago) - City of Bay St. Louis, Mayor Carver knows that I can become very vocal.

With all the property owners of the annexed area clamoring about water, gas and sewerage not being supplied to us as the City had promised it would be available in about five years and then on top of this being charged a garbage fee - the only city service being supplied for the taxes which we pay - it would be wise to treat us with a little more consideration in view of this fact.

I am only asking that a small section of road be repaired - do you or do you not intend to repair it?

Anxiously awaiting your reply, I remain

Yours very truly,
Arthur Jeanfreau

Letter to Hancock County Board of Supervisors

Gentlemen:

Recently I have been hearing about the possibility of your raising the county tax millage in order to repay the county Camille loan. I am surprised that you haven't considered the obvious alternative - to equalize and fairly distribute taxes on property presently on the rolls.

Recently you purchased land for the Port and Harbor from a timber and pulpwood corporation for nearly $800 per acre. That land was on your tax rolls at $8 per acre, or 1 percent of its admitted value. There are timber lands owned by national pulpwood and timber corporations on major highways in the county which are presently on the tax rolls at $8 per acre. Some of these lands would bring $10,000 per acre or more on the present market. That assessment is less than 1-10 of 1 percent of the true value of these lands. The companies, at the existing millage rate pay less than 50 cents per acre per year in taxes.

According to the county assessor, all lands and improvements should be on the tax rolls at approximately 15 percent of their actual value. The question I would like to have each of you answer at the July 4, 1975 meeting in Waveland is why are my properties, my neighbors' properties, and most of the farm lands in the county on the tax rolls at 10 to 15 percent of their actual value while the large timber corporation properties are on the same tax rolls at 1 percent or less of their value? These lands are agricultural just as are farmlands.

Tree farms are cultivated and harvested just as any crop-land. Please explain why local property owners in Hancock County pay 10 to 100 times more taxes on our property as compared to the large out of state timber corporations. I do not believe there is land anywhere in Hancock County today worth less than $300 per acre. On the basis of this there shouldn't be any property on the county tax rolls at less than $45 per acre (15 percent). If you would make these large corporations pay their fair share of taxes, you could lower the taxes presently paid by voters on the smaller properties throughout the county, and still repay the Camille loan. Many of us would like an explanation.

Sincerely yours,
Paul L. Vegas

Painted Over

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner points out where the fiberglass hull of a stolen 24-foot Cobia motorboat was painted over in yellow. The sheriff's office charged two white men in connection with the theft. One of the men was already being held by the sheriff's office in connection with a murder.

Two men charged with boat theft

A 25-year-old Bay St. Louis man who was booked June 20 for the murder of his uncle was charged last Thursday by the Hancock County Sheriff's Office with possession of a stolen motorboat valued around $8,000.

David Caldwell, 25, of 105 Crisco Court in Bay St. Louis, who had been charged earlier with the shooting death of his uncle William J. Coleman, was charged with the theft of a 24-foot, Cobia motorboat with a six-cylinder, 165-horsepower, in-board outboard motor.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said the boat was found around 5:30 p.m. last Thursday at Joe's Bayou Marina on Blue Meadow Road by officers from the state highway patrol, and the sheriff's office.

According to Sheriff Ladner, the boat had been stolen in Pensacola, Florida in 1973 and the fiberglass hull had been repainted yellow.

Also arrested and charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft is Nolan G. Farmer, 21, of 1102 Rue de Salle in Waveland, who was subsequently released on a $2,500 bond. Caldwell is being held without bond.

Those joining in the seizure of the boat included Sheriff Ladner, Ronnie Peterson, and Paul Bernard of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office, and T. P. Nailer and Mickey Ladner of the state highway patrol. The boat is presently impounded at Sam Pernicaro's Body Shop.

VA relaxes restrictions on GI home loans

VA Loan Guaranty Officer for Mississippi Ralph H. Martin, reported today that a provision of a recent law allowed it to restore GI home loan entitlement to 7,456 veterans in the first quarter of 1975, well above the previous total for a full year.

Requests for restoration in March totaled 4,499. Of that number, 3,540 were approved, pushing the three month total to 7,456, Martin said. Yearly totals have ranged between 4,282 and 5,272 since 1971. Restorations in Mississippi during the three month period totaled 224. Mississippi realtors have expressed themselves as happy to have this means of allowing many veterans to "trade up" to a better house.

Martin explained that the Veterans Housing Act of 1974 relaxed restrictions on reinstating loan entitlement to previous users. Previously, loan benefits could be restored only for what the agency described as "compelling reasons".

This requirement was eliminated by the new law, and VA now may restore benefits whenever the property has been disposed of and the GI loan paid in full.

More than nine million loans valued at nearly $112 billion have been guaranteed since World War II. Almost 4.9 million veterans have paid their loans in full, and thus could qualify for restoration of entitlement if they dispose of the property which secured their loans.

Another provision of the Housing Act allows VA to restore a veteran-seller's entitlement and release him from liability to VA when a veteran-buyer agrees to assume the outstanding balance on the property. The buyer also must qualify from a credit standpoint, and agree to substitute his entitlement to the same extent as the veteran-seller.

VA guarantees 60 per cent up to a maximum of $17,500, whichever is less, of home loans private lenders make to eligible military service personnel and veterans of World War II and later periods.

Martin urged any eligible person interested in GI home loans or restoration of loan eligibility to contact the VA regional office which has his records, or representatives of local veterans service organizations.

Small business conference to be held in Jackson

Small and minority businessmen from throughout the state will have the opportunity to broaden their markets or expand into new ones through Mississippi Expo '75, scheduled for July 18 and 19 at the Mississippi Trade Mart Building in Jackson.

Mississippi Expo '75 is sponsored by the State Office of Minority Business Enterprise (SOMBE) which operates under the auspices of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board.

The basic goal of the trade fair, the first one of its kind to be held in the state, is to assist small and minority companies who have good products and services but have limited personnel and budgets in terms of advertising or salesmen to take advantage of all business opportunities that might be available to them.

said a spokesman of the Agricultural and Industrial Board.

"In this two-day period the potential for negotiating future business is tremendous," said Tom Espy, SOMBE director in Jackson.

"The small businessman will be able to find out first hand on a one-to-one basis how he can do business with large corporations. Major corporations will have an opportunity for their buyers and purchasing agents to get a better view of what the small businessman can provide their companies."

In addition to booth displays a seminar series is planned that should serve as a source of information to increase business knowledge and expertise of all the participants.

One of the features of the seminars will be a workshop on franchising with representatives of several national franchise companies on hand. The seminar will also be a source of information on procedures for doing business with state and federal agencies.

The fair will close with a banquet Saturday night with remarks by Mississippi Governor William Waller, and the keynote address by Congresswoman Barbara Jordan of Texas.

Anyone interested in participating in Miss. Expo '75 or attending the banquet should contact the State of Mississippi Office of Minority Business Enterprise, P.O. Box 849, Jackson, Ms., 39205.

"If I built a $304,000 interchange for my own use... I'd be a mystery man too!"

Tom Stennis points out another reason why your present Highway Commissioner wants to remain unknown to you — the voters of the Southern Highway District.

For the past eight years, your present Southern District Highway Commissioner has remained a mystery man to you. He has no record to stand on and plenty to hide from...like the $304,000 highway interchange he built for himself on Interstate 55 at the Martinsville exit, which leads to his family's farm.

The Federal government said there was not enough traffic to build it. Your present Highway Commissioner built it anyway for his own use with your money.

With hundreds of inadequate roads that are still not finished, poor administration of his department and your tax money, it is no wonder he remains unknown. Tom Stennis needs your help to serve as your next Highway Commissioner. It's time for a change and honest use of your tax money. Trust Tom Stennis...you'll get good roads...Honestly!

Governor brings agencies together in summit

Mississippi Governor Bill Waller called last week's Governor's Summit Conference on Crime the first time in the state's history that an effort has been made to view the total criminal justice system in Mississippi.

"Historically," Governor Bill Waller told the Conference, "we have sought to meet the needs of law enforcement, the police, the sheriffs, the highway patrol, the drug agents, and so forth, we have sought to meet the needs of the courts, our prisons, and our juvenile justice programs."

"However," he continued, "this effort marks the first time that any one has sought to bring all areas of the system together and to set a strategy for the long-range improvement in the total criminal justice system."

The conference, attended by more than 300 persons from throughout the state, was held to hear recommendations from a 125-member Standards and Goals Commission appointed by the Governor ten months ago to recommend changes in the criminal justice system in Mississippi.

Service plan offered

A proposed comprehensive annual services program plan for the State of Mississippi under Title XX of the Social Security Act is now being published for public comment and review.

The plan, with a program year of October 1, 1975, to September 30, 1976, would direct services at goals of enabling individuals to be self-supporting, self-sufficient, to the prevention of neglect, abuse, or exploitation of children and adults, to the prevention or reduction of inappropriate institutional care, and to the arrangement for institutional care when indicated.

Examples of services include homemaker, day care, home management, and protective services.

Ingalls

announces jobs

Ingalls Shipbuilding, Mississippi's largest industrial employer, has launched an extensive hiring and training program to fill some 3,500 jobs in its work force by the end of the year.

Available jobs will be in the manufacturing craft areas of the shipyard and include welding, shipfitting, pipefitting, pipefitting, electrical, painters, machinists and sheetmetal workers. The new employees will boost the shipyard's total work force to more than 23,000 at the Pascagoula facility.

During a six-day period last week more than 650 new employees and trainees were added to the work force.

Many of the additional job opportunities are expected to be filled by skilled journeymen craftsmen but more than 2,000 will be filled by unskilled apprentices and trainees.

Vicksburg reenactment planned

Facts about Welfare

Q - I know the Social Security Administration operates the adult money payment called SSI (Supplemental Security Income) for the aged, blind and disabled. What does the welfare department do now?

A - You can come to us for food stamps, medical aid, aid to dependent children and a host of social services designed for all types of people.

Q - Does the welfare department decide who gets SSI or how much SSI they will get?

A - No, we do not determine eligibility for this, nor the amount of payment. This is handled by the Social Security Administration who has offices in several locations around the state.

Q - Doesn't the welfare department do anything for the elderly, the blind, or the disabled person?

A - We have a number of services designed especially for adults which are available through the welfare department. Some counties have day care centers for the elderly, homemakers, transportation, counseling and other programs which may help ease the burdens of the aged, blind and disabled. We also administer the food stamp program which is a real financial aid for persons who need help to buy their groceries.

Q - Speaking of the food stamp program, I don't like it. I thought commodities were better. How do food stamps help me?

A - Food stamps allow a greater variety of food to be purchased by families. They also provide an economic boost to the State of Mississippi. When the grocer takes the food stamps which he has received to the bank, he gets credit for the full amount of them. In a recent month, this meant nearly $12 million in revenue for the State. $8 million of that was totally federal money. The other part—$4 million was put up by the food stamp client.

Q - There are some children in my neighborhood whose parents treat them badly. I think they get welfare, isn't there something you can do about it?

A - If you will report this situation to the county welfare office, we will look into it. Child abuse is a very serious problem which often results in long term difficulties for the entire family. Whether they get a welfare check or not, the Welfare Department in Mississippi has the responsibility and legally delegated authority to intervene on behalf of any child considered or found to be neglected, abused, or exploited.

Q - I didn't think child abuse could be a problem in this state. What type of people would abuse a child?

A - Contrary to popular opinions, the ability to parent is not instinctual, but is rather, learned behavior. Some parents are emotionally immature, some were abused themselves by their parents, some are unaware of the responsibilities of parenthood or what constitutes adequate parenting.

Q - Doesn't child abuse occur mostly among the poor and uneducated?

A - No, definitely not. Abusive parents may be intelligent, well-educated, and successful financially. They are not bound by race, color or creed.

Q - What does the Welfare Department do to the family if they find there is real child abuse?

A - We work with the family to move toward reuniting the child with the family—to try to rescue the home for the child—if possible. The department offers services which use the family's own strength to reduce the strain on the parent-child relationship. We counsel with the family and often make referrals to other community resources to help. For more information, contact your county welfare office.

Eastland announces Ole Miss marijuana study

WASHINGTON — Senator James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) announced Thursday a program to monitor the potency of marijuana has been instituted by the University of Mississippi and federal drug abuse agencies.

"The agreement reached today is the result of hearings conducted by the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee," said Senator Eastland. "It is an additional $50,000 to the already existing contract between the National Institute on Drug Abuse and the Marijuana Project of the University's School of Pharmacy. "These additional funds will be used to purchase additional equipment to enable the Marijuana Project to analyze, on a routine basis, samples of all major seizures of marijuana and other cannabis products." According to testimony before Eastland's subcommittee, there has been a marked progression in the potency of marijuana and other cannabis products entering this country since the mid-1960's. During the '60's, marijuana consumed in the United States was a domestic variety with a THC content of not more than 0.2 percent. By 1970, Mexican marijuana with a strength of 1.5 percent or more THC was on the American market.

During the past two years, other varieties, with a potency of 3 percent have reached the market along with some liquid hashish with a potency of 30 to 40 percent.

Senator Eastland said the project announced today will provide a more precise idea of the strength of marijuana now reaching the American

"Obviously it makes a world of difference whether users are smoking marijuana with one fifth of one percent potency or marijuana 10 to 20 times stronger," said Eastland. "Our scientific researchers and sociologists should have a reasonably accurate idea of the potency of the marijuana products entering the country."

"At our May 8 hearing, there was a discussion of the need for monitoring cannabis potency on a continuing basis. I am pleased to learn that the agreement between the Drug Enforcement Administration, the National Institute on Drug Abuse and the Marijuana Project to establish this monitoring system has been reached."

The Marijuana Project at Ole Miss was established under a NIDA contract in 1968. It has assisted researchers in many countries by providing samples of carefully calibrated marijuana for research purposes. The techniques for the quantitative analysis of cannabis developed at the Project laboratory have been recommended for universal adoption by the UN Advisory Committee on Narcotics.

"I am very proud of the role Ole Miss has played in improving the quality of our marijuana research," said Senator Eastland. "Their selection for this new program indicates the importance of their work."

Dr. Carlton Turner, the Director of the Marijuana Project, said he was "pleased and honored" by the extension of the contract to include a cannabis potency analysis.

"This project will provide an important data base for scientists and government agencies. I welcome this joint venture of law makers, government agencies and scientists," he said.

Waller heads printing firm opening

Ground breaking ceremonies June 10 for the new W.F. Hall Printing Co. plant in Corinth, Miss. marked the culmination of seven years of industrial efforts by the state.

Governor William Waller and Dr. Robert L. Robinson, executive director of the state A & B Board, headed the list of officials attending the ceremony for the inception of a multi-million dollar printing and binding facility which is expected to employ 500 persons in the next two years.

Hall's operation in Corinth, which was significantly bolstered by the recent acquisition of a print contract with the National Geographic Society, will give a big boost to the state's economy, Waller said.

"It proves that Mississippi can draw first line industry into the state which can be staffed locally and which will raise the per capita income of Mississippians," he said.

The second largest printing company in the nation, Hall has plants in Chicago and Dresden, Tenn., employs some 4,000 people and had sales of $100 million last year. Construction will start immediately on the 250,000 sq. ft. building, although there will be a two-year lapse before the plant can go into operation. Special rotogravure printing presses made in England and necessary for the National Geographic work, will take that long to be manufactured. A Hall spokesman said as many as 200 persons might be employed at the opening. All hiring will be local and special training offered in order to have skilled personnel to operate the plant.

Dr. Robinson cited the unity among state officials and the legislature as well as local governing bodies as "another example of the progressive attitude throughout the state."

"W.F. Hall exemplifies the type of industry that we want to locate here. We are concentrating our efforts at the state level to attract firms with the technology that will provide Mississippians with higher skill job opportunities," he stated.

Texas congresswoman to address small businessmen

Congresswoman Barbara Jordan of Texas will be the keynote banquet speaker during the upcoming Mississippi Expo '75.

Scheduled for July 18 and 19 at the Trade Mart in Jackson, Mississippi Expo '75 will offer small and minority businessmen from throughout the state the opportunity to broaden their markets or expand into new ones. The trade fair is being sponsored by the State Office of Minority Business Enterprise which operates under the auspices of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board.

Representative Barbara Jordan has represented the 18th Congressional District of Texas since January, 1973. She graduated magna cum laude from Texas Southern University with a B.A. degree in political science and history. She then received her law degree in 1959 from the Boston University School of Law.

Miss Jordan served as administrative assistant to the county judge of Harris County, Texas until her election in 1966 to the Texas senate. She became the first black elected to the Senate since 1883. In 1972, the senate unanimously elected her president pro tempore.

Congresswoman Jordan is a member of the House Committee on the Judiciary, the House Committee on Government Operations, and the Steering and Policy Committee of the House Democratic Caucus. Also, Representative Jordan serves under appointment by the speaker to a special task force of the 94th Congress.

Representative Jordan has been named Democratic Woman of the Year by the Women's National Democratic Club. The "Ladies Home Journal" has picked her as 1975 Woman of the Year in Politics. And, she was recognized as "...one of the 200 faces of the future" by "Time" magazine.

The banquet will be held in the Trade Mart at 7:30 p.m. July 19. For banquet tickets contact the State of Mississippi Office of Minority Business Enterprise, P.O. Box 849, Jackson, MS 39204.

Hancock health clinic completes remodeling

The Hancock County Health Clinic has recently completed a $26,000 remodeling project of its Dunbar St. offices in Bay St. Louis.

An open house for residents to view the new improvements was held Friday, June 27, with representatives from the state health department and local officials attending.

Dr. Louis H. Jobe welcomed local officials, Hancock supervisors A. A. Kellar, James Travica and Oscar Peterson, Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver and commissioners Lucien Kidd and Clarence Ladner, Chancery Clerk John Rutherford, Circuit Clerk Henry Otis, architect Fred Wagner and former assistant administrator of the clinic Wayne Alliston.

The new improvements include a 15 ft. addition to the rear of the building including a sanitarian's office, a nurses office, two new examining rooms and two new dressing rooms and complete renovation of the original building. The project was completely funded by Hancock County.

Kindergartens must be licensed by state

Private kindergartens that offer instruction and pre-school readiness training for a fee should be licensed by the Mississippi Commission on School and College Registration. Joe Baddley of Jackson, commission executive secretary, said officials of all privately owned kindergartens over the state should check with his office to make sure they're operating within state laws.

"Private kindergartens charging a fee for instruction must be licensed," Baddley said. He pointed out that day-care centers are excluded, since they are licensed by the State Board of Health.

Buccaneer State Park welcomes new manager

Waveland native Stan Weidman was welcomed back to his home town recently as he assumed his new position as manager of the 390 acre Buccaneer State Park in Waveland.

Area park commissioner Perry Gibson said Weidman was chosen for the position because of his experience in managing parks throughout the state. He comes to Buccaneer Park from a position as manager of Leroy Percy State Park near Hollandale, Miss., and has served in the past as manager of Lake Lowndes State Park and Roosevelt State Park and was the director of parks and recreation for Yazoo City.

As manager of Lake Lowndes near Columbus, Miss. Weidman directed the first, second and third stages of the park's development. His new position at Buccaneer Park will involve the same type of decision-making as construction of the $3 million project continues. The park is scheduled for completion August 28.

At Roosevelt State Park Weidman initiated the first Outdoor Awareness Seminar for the Pine Burr Boy Scout District. He also completed requirements for his masters degree in park management from the University of Southern Mississippi while in this position.

In Yazoo City Weidman is cited as the motivating force behind a $120,000 capital improvement bond issue for recreation. He also built two new ball fields there and obtained 30 acres of land for new parks.

Weidman, a graduate of Bay Senior High School, was named director of the first summer playground program for Operation Upturn in Waveland in 1970 following completion of his bachelor's degree in municipal recreation from USM in 1970. "It is like a dream come true to be able to come back and work in my home community," Weidman said. "This community gave me my start and I want to work for it, so that it can in turn provide a prosperous and wholesome life for my children."

Some of the many facilities that will be offered at the new park will be 104 campsites with a complete system of underground water, electrical and sewerage facilities, Weidman said. The park will also be completely lighted and all areas will be accessible by blacktop roads.

One special attraction of the park, Weidman said, will be the wave pool, a fan shaped pool with electrically generated waves. The pool, now in the designing stages, will be only the second one of its kind in the country.

The park also offers Shipwreck alley, a complete facility including a laundry, a store, a recreation room, two lighted tennis courts, a wading pool with artificial waterfalls and a shuffle board court.

Mrs. Weidman, the former Mickey Albritton of Hattiesburg, will serve along with her husband as park hostess.

Welcoming the new man

Area park commissioner Perry Gibson turns over the key to the Buccaneer park manager's house to Stan Weidman, newly appointed park superintendent.

Weidman, a Waveland native, has previously served as manager in several state parks including Roosevelt State Park and Lake Lowndes State Park.

Law series established at Ole Miss for "her" honor

UNIVERSITY, Miss.—The nation's first woman Federal Judge, a Mississippian, has been honored at the University of Mississippi by establishment of a law lecture series.

U.S. District Judge Bernita Shelton Matthews, originally from Hazlehurst, was appointed to the Federal bench in the District of Columbia in 1949 by President Harry Truman, and served until retirement in 1968. Judge Matthews maintains her home in Washington.

The Matthews Lectures in Law at the Ole Miss Law School resulted from a bequest from her late husband, Maj. Percy A. Matthews USAF (Ret.).

"The Matthews Lectures will be a special course of lectures in the School of Law by persons of unusual achievement in the legal field," said Law Dean Parham Williams. "Judge Matthews had an impressive judicial record and we are proud to honor this distinguished Mississippian."

She received an LL.B. in 1919, the LL.M. and Master of Patent Law in 1920 at National University Law School in Washington. Judge Matthews practiced law in the District of Columbia for 20 years and was also an instructor in the law of evidence at Washington College of Law, now The American University, before appointment to the bench.

In 1923 she drafted, in cooperation with Alice Paul, the initial Equal Rights Amendment officially endorsed by the National Woman's Party and also wrote many laws concerning women's equal rights, such as the 1927 law allowing women to serve as jurors in the District of Columbia as well as various state laws giving women equal pay with male teachers for equal work.

VA advises veterans on death benefits

Assistant VA Center Director for Regional Office, Merlyn J. Cook, issued a reminder to veterans this week to make certain their families know what VA benefits they may be entitled to if something should happen to them.

"Not only should the veteran and his wife discuss the subject of death," Cook said, "they should make known locations of important family documents, and make sure they are protected from fire, theft and damage. Also, survivors should be briefed on what to do in case of the veteran's death."

The veteran should tell his family about possible survivor's benefits such as VA's dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected death, or non-service-connected death pensions for widows, or for children when there is no widow, or when a widow is ineligible because of excessive income, Cook said.

Burial benefits for wartime and certain peacetime veterans should not be overlooked, Cook said. These include a maximum $250 burial allowance, plus a plot allowance not exceeding $150 for veterans buried outside national cemeteries.

For veterans who die of service-connected disabilities, in lieu of other benefits, there is an $800 burial allowance. "It is equally important," Cook said, "to keep track of GI insurance policy numbers, claim numbers for use on correspondence with VA, commercial insurance policies, social security numbers and naturalization papers—all important in claiming various survivor benefits."

Cook offered this final advice to survivors, "Don't forget to turn to VA offices and veterans service organizations when assistance is needed after the death of a veteran. They stand ready to help in any way possible."

Wildlife group delays sale of Everglades

The National Wildlife Federation and its Florida affiliate, the Florida Wildlife Federation, have temporarily stopped a move by the U. S. Sugar Corporation to lease 10,000 acres of state Everglades land near West Palm Beach.

Florida Attorney General Robert L. Shevin agreed with the environmental groups' contention that the proposed 35-year lease had been arranged behind closed doors in violation of state administrative procedures. As a result of his position on the matter, the proposed June 3 ratification of the lease by the Florida cabinet was postponed until a public hearing could be held to review the proposed land deal.

"The real issue here is the leasing policy of the state in reference to the entire Everglades," said Thomas L.

Kimball, NWF executive vice president. "The Everglades are not just of regional significance—they are a part of America that should be preserved as a major national resource."

The land in question is located in southwestern Palm Beach County, near Lake Okeechobee, and is known locally as the Holy Lands because of the limestone caves found beneath it. These valuable wetlands are rich in wildlife, including alligators, and currently are managed by the state as a wildlife area.

The state Department of Administration, acting on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the Florida Internal Improvement Trust Fund, which controls the land, has scheduled a July 10 public hearing in West Palm Beach to review the lease application from the sugar company.

NSTL satellites join marine environment study in Gulf

Two NASA satellites from the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) in Hancock County are joined in a cooperative effort to assess the marine environment in the Gulf of Mexico.

A commercial fishing fleet of some 70 vessels, three oceanographic research ships, a low-flying "spotter" band of nearly 40 airplanes, several medium-altitude aircraft, four marine oil platforms, and a weather satellite are working in conjunction with the NSTL satellites to study extensively, from every available platform, the conditions that may have a long-range influence on the living marine resources in the Gulf.

Sponsoring agencies, NASA and the Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), will try to determine whether remote sensing via satellite can be of significant aid to the management and harvest of fish species caught in Gulf waters.

Eventually results of this and other studies will be used to assist in the formation of plans and policies designed to maintain oceanic resources in healthy balance, while continuing to produce a high annual yield of fishery products from Gulf waters.

The project's scientific and technological investigators are working together in and over coastal waters of Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi for an 18-month period in an extensive sea-air-space experiment which makes use of remotely sensed data collected by NASA's two Earth resources satellites, LANDSAT-1 and LANDSAT-2, which continuously scan the Earth during 18-day orbital cycles spaced so the test area will be viewed every nine days. The NASA spacecraft data are combined with data collected by fishing boats and spotter planes and airborne sensors and cameras and from the NOAA-2 satellite.

Findings will be used in an attempt to relate coastal environmental conditions to the availability and distribution of two commercially important fish, menhaden ("pogy") and thread herring ("hairy backs"), which occur in large quantities in the Gulf from about May through September.

Both species school at or near the surface, a characteristic that facilitates detection by remote sensors. Menhaden, the country's fifth most valuable catch, are a prime source of fish meal, oil and condensed solubles.

Many of the participants in his satellite experiments are federal and state cooperating agencies located at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) at Bay St. Louis, Miss. The NASA field installation provides computer, laboratory and logistics support, technical services and, in general, serves as an operational base for this space applications experiment.

Principal participants at NSTL consist of the Earth Resources Laboratory (ERL), a component of NASA's Johnson Space Center at Houston, Tex., and NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service's (NMFS) Fisheries Engineering Laboratory, which originated the current fisheries undertaking. The NMFS laboratory at Pascagoula, Miss., also is an active participant.

A major participant, the National Fish Meal and Oil Association (NFMOA), with headquarters in Washington, D. C., has arranged for the cooperation of the five member companies that make up the major part of the menhaden fishing fleet in the Gulf.

Project managers estimate that NFMOA's contribution to the project in time and service is worth about $225,000, a sum that represents a substantial portion of the cost of the fisheries-satellite undertaking. The rest of the experiment is being funded by NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service and National Environmental Satellite Service, and the Johnson Space Center's Earth Resources Laboratory.

Most of the participants helped in an earlier, smaller scale investigation three years ago. One significant finding showed a relation between oceanographic conditions as seen from sensors aboard the ERTS-1 satellite (recently renamed LANDSAT-1) and schools of Gulf menhaden in Mississippi Sound. Several computer models also were developed that can use data collected by remote sensors to assist in predicting likely areas for menhaden in commercial concentrations.

Similar but expanded experimentation will be completed during the field tests scheduled for the next six months at two sites, one in Mississippi Sound (the same grounds covered in the earlier menhaden tracking undertaking), the other south of Morgan City, La. The two sites cover about 4,000 square nautical miles. Fishing boats dispersed through the region, some carrying scientific observers, will keep logs describing the quantities and kinds of fish caught, weather and oceanographic conditions and certain other factors that may affect commercial fishing. Scientists aboard research vessels and on oceanic oil platforms will monitor oceanographic conditions, testing Gulf waters for temperature, chemical make-up, current flow, turbidity and color. Fish spotter planes, customarily used to direct large purse-seiner ships to abundant fish schools (particularly menhaden), will expand their numbers and actions to include the keeping of a variety of records for later scientific analysis.

NASA and chartered aircraft flying at 100 to 10,000 feet carry a variety of cameras, electronic scanners and other sensing equipment to repeatedly measure sea-surface temperature, water color as a function of wavelength, surface current patterns, surface salinity and surface turbidity patterns and to determine photographically the presence or absence of fish. NASA's LANDSAT-1 and LANDSAT-2, each covering the study area every nine days at an altitude of 570 miles will train their remote sensors on the oceanic test sites, collecting data with a multispectral scanner subsystem. The system takes images of Earth in four spectral bands.

When the field operations phase of the LANDSAT experiment ends in the fall of 1975, the various NASA and NOAA elements involved will prepare and process the large amount of data expected to be acquired to facilitate storage, retrieval and analysis. At a later date, after analyses have been completed and prediction models verified, in cooperation with member companies of NFMOA, final documentation will be prepared and made available to the user community.

Scientific haul

Workers aboard this commercial fishing vessel in the Gulf of Mexico haul in this catch of menhaden not for sale but for scientific research being conducted at NSTL in Hancock County to determine the present marine environment in the Gulf.

State parks sponsor hoop, frisbee contests

Mississippi State Parks will sponsor two contests, a hula hoop contest and a frisbee contest, in all the state parks July 5 for children up to 15 years of age.

The eighth annual National Hula Hoop Contest will include such maneuvers as the knee knocker, alley oop, hula hop and wrap the mummy as well as a free-style routine. Winners on the local level will participate in the Mississippi State Finals in Starkville July 16.

National champions receive a $1,000 U.S. Savings Bond with runners-up receiving $500 and $250 savings bonds.

Local frisbee champs can enter the seventh annual World Junior Frisbee Championships on the same day. Boy and girl champions and runners-up will be eligible for the state finals. Identical savings bond awards are offered to national champions. The contestants in the frisbee contest will be judged on accuracy, backhand, sidearm, underhand, skip flights and distance.

Vicksburg showboat opens season

The Showboat Players of Vicksburg, Mississippi will present their summer run of "Gold in the Hills" at 8:15 p.m. each Friday and Saturday night through August 30 at the Dixie Showboat Theatre, 811 Bowman Avenue, Vicksburg.

The annual revival of the Showboat is a long tradition in Mississippi riverfront towns. Calliope music beckons visitors across the gangplank where they will be met by Cap'n Andy, singing waiters, and peanut sellers. Some members of the audience actually eat the peanuts, but most save the peanuts for throwing at the dastardly villain in the play. A Showboat audience is always encouraged to join in "Boing" and "hissing" the villain, shouting encouragement to the stalwart hero and in warning our Little Nell, who ain't done right by. Can-Can dancers and Bowery singers add audience appeal to the hilarious melodrama.

Reservations may be made by calling Showboat reservation desk at the Dixie Showboat Theatre, phone number 636-0471, Vicksburg, or by writing Dixie Showboat Players, P.O. Box 1095, Vicksburg, Ms 39180. Folders are available and will be mailed on request. Remittance must accompany reservations.

Out! Into the cold!

Freezing is simple method of preserving vegetables

MISSISSIPPI STATE This is another in a series of articles designed to help the consumer properly can and freeze fresh fruits and vegetables.

Freezing is one of the simplest and least time-consuming ways to preserve foods at home. It preserves the natural color, fresh flavor and nutritive values of most vegetables. Frozen vegetables are ready to serve on short notice because most of the preparation they need for the table is done before freezing.

The main purpose of packaging is to keep food from drying out and to preserve food value, flavor, color and pleasing texture, suggests Mrs. Ina Kimbrough, foods and nutrition specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. Use only moisture-vapor-proof or moisture-vapor-resistant containers when freezing vegetables.

Care in sealing is as important as using the right container. Rigid containers usually are sealed either by pressing on or screwing on the lid. Some rigid cardboard cartons need to have freezer tape applied after sealing to make them airtight and leak-proof. Use a flat metal lid with sealing compound and a metal screwband to seal glass jars, advises the specialist.

Most bags used for packaging can be sealed by twisting and folding back the top to the bag and securing with a good quality rubber band; twist tie or other sealing device.

Select fresh, tender vegetables right from the garden. The fresher the vegetable when frozen the more satisfactory will be your product.

Washing is the first step in the preparation of most vegetables for freezing. Wash vegetables thoroughly in cold water. Lift them out of the water because grit settles in the bottom of the pan.

Sort vegetables according to size for heating and packing unless they are to be cut into uniform pieces. Some vegetables need to be peeled, trimmed and cut.

One of the most important steps in preparing vegetables for freezing is heating or "blanching." Practically every vegetable, except green pepper, maintains better quality in frozen storage if heated before packaging.

Mrs. Kimbrough says the reason for heating vegetables before freezing is that it slows or stops the action of enzymes. Enzymes help vegetables grow and mature until the time they are picked. After that they cause loss of flavor and color. If vegetables are not heated enough, the enzymes continue to be active during frozen storage. Then the vegetables may develop off-flavors, discolor or toughen so that they may be unappetizing in a few weeks.

Heating also wilts or softens vegetables and makes them easier to pack. Heating time varies with the variety and size of the vegetable.

For home freezing, the most satisfactory way to heat practically all vegetables is in boiling water. Use a blancher, which has a blanching basket and cover. Or fit a wire basket into a large kettle, and add the cover, advises Mrs. Kimbrough.

For each pound of prepared vegetables use at least one gallon of boiling water in the blancher or kettle. Put vegetables in the blanching basket or wire basket and lower into the boiling water. A wire cover for the basket can be used to keep the vegetables down in the boiling water.

Put the lid on the blancher or kettle and start counting time immediately. Keep heat high for the required time.

Instead of blanching some vegetables, you may heat them in steam, in a pressure cooker or in the oven. Tomatoes for juice may be simmered.

Cool vegetables quickly and thoroughly to stop the cooking. To cool vegetables heated in boiling water or steam, plunge the basket of vegetables immediately into a large amount of cold water—60 degrees or below. Change the water frequently or use cold running water or iced water. It will take about as long to cool the food as it does to heat it. When the vegetable is cool, remove it from the water and drain thoroughly.

Hospitality entries set new record

A new record has been set for entries in the statewide Miss Hospitality Pageant with a total of 84 contestants representing their city and county at the annual pageant, scheduled for July 23-26 in Biloxi.

Sponsored by the Travel and Tourism Department of the Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board, the Miss Hospitality Pageant is the only one of its kind in the nation. The title will take one of the girls 60,000 miles during her year's reign and will give her the task of personally inviting thousands of visitors to the State of Mississippi where "hospitality" is the key word.

"We are extremely pleased with this response and view this record number of entries as affirmative support of the Hospitality program," said pageant director Mrs. Frances Kirby.

In addition to the coronation of a Miss Hospitality, two other girls will be named as alternates and will be "official hostesses" in their own right. The names of this year's Miss Hospitality contestants include Calle A. Floyd, Pass Christian; Catha Langley, County; and Beverly Waveland; Stephen Winnard, Waveland; Gulfport.

St. Ann's Parish News

A memorial Mass, with a special liturgy, was celebrated Saturday evening at St. Ann's Church for Rev. Francis T. Donahue, S.T., on the anniversary of his death.

A number of local residents and summer visitors joined in the planned activities.

St. Ann's Church grounds was the setting Sunday afternoon for the first annual Parish picnic.

Rev. Canisius Hayes, S.T., pastor St. Ann's Catholic Church, announced Saturday liturgy this week will center around the national observance of Independence Day July 4.

Mrs. Louise Reeves was interested in buying a late model pickup truck. Since she had dealt with Turan-Lane Chevrolet on several occasions and was well pleased, she visited them. She talked to sales representative Leland L. Ladner who was able to make her a very good deal on a late model pickup. Many of Turan-Lane Chevrolet's customers are repeat customers because they try to give everyone the best deal.

MRS. ROBERT SMITH

Rebecca Fricke marries Robert Smith

Galilee Church in Clearbrook, Virginia was the setting for the June 20 wedding of Miss Rebecca Ann Fricke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fricke, Jr. of Stephenson, Virginia, and Robert Owen Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Smith of Winchester, Virginia.

Miss Fricke is the granddaughter of Mrs. John Fricke, Sr. of Bay St. Louis and the late John C. Fricke. Rev. E. R. Davis officiated at the double ring ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of old-fashioned lace designed with an empire waist, long sheer sleeves and high neckline falling to rows of ruffles and train. Her shoulder length veil fell from a rose pattern lace headpiece dotted with pearls. Yellow roses, white miniature carnations, daisies and baby's breath with yellow ribbon and streamers were intermingled in her bridal bouquet.

Arrangements of gladioli, carnations, pompons and baby's breath decorated the church.

Miss Teresa Lazazzera, pianist, played a program of wedding music including the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

Miss Tammy G. Shipman of Stephenson, Virginia was maid of honor. Her long ecru color dress was styled with a square neck, long sheer sleeves and empire waist featuring three ruffles enhanced with pink and green trim. A pink picture hat complemented her gown.

Pink carnations, purple statice, daisies and baby's breath with pink ribbon streamers and ribbon formed her nosegay.

Bridesmaids were Miss Tammy Smith, sister of the groom, of Winchester, Virginia, and Miss Sherri Roach of Brucetown, Virginia. Their pink gowns and pink picture hats were styled identical to the honor attendant.

Miss Tanya Sue Weaver of Stephenson, Virginia, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Gregory S. Fricke, brother of the bride, of Stephenson.

The groom's cousin, Robert Stephen Spitzer of Stephenson served as best man.

Ushers were Ray Spitzer Jr. and John C. Fricke, both of Stephenson.

A reception followed the ceremony in the basement of the church.

The bride's mother received guests in a long blue dress with empire waist and long sleeves accented by ruffle trim. She had a corsage of red rosebuds.

The mother of the groom chose a long pink dress with empire waist and sheer long lace sleeves accented with a pink rosebud corsage.

For their wedding trip to Cacapon, West Virginia, the bride wore a black and white gingham checked dress and her mother's rosebud corsage.

The couple will reside in Stephenson, Virginia.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. John Fricke, Sr., Mrs. Leroy Fricke, Mrs. Robert Fricke, Miss Charla Davis and Miss Pamela Cuevas, all of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Ronald Fricke and family of Pennsylvania and Mr. and Mrs. James Fawber and family, Miss Beatrice Smith and Mrs. Verla Hodgson, all of Keokuk, Iowa.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Herr, Hot Springs, Ark., and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Holland Sr. of Metairie, La., and Waveland, Miss.

Requiem for a hero

It's been said many times that what we need now are heroes. There aren't many of them around, and last week we lost one of them when he boarded the ill-fated New York-bound Eastern Airlines Flight 66.

Nicknamed "Wonderous" because that's what he was, he was a basketball player who played the game with what sportswriters like to call "reckless abandon". Diving over scorers' tables, getting into his share of scraps - he played a very physical version of what has been called a non-contact sport.

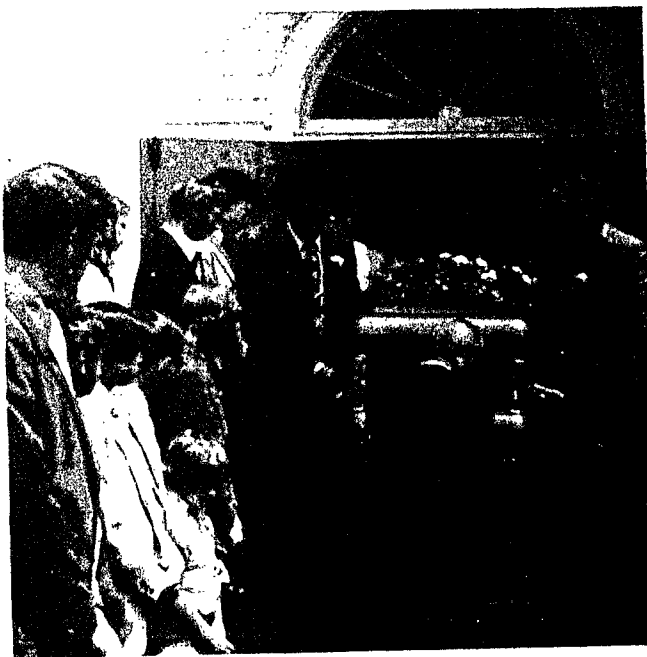

But for all his aggressiveness and eccentricities on the court, he was a gentleman off court. Both teammates and opponents agreed on that.

He was a man who loved home cooking and who loved his home at Necaise Crossing.

Saturday at the Infant of Prague Catholic Church in Necaise Crossing, his friends and family said good bye to him. The doors of the small church were left open and a loudspeaker set up so that the many people who couldn't get into the church could hear Father Victor Seidel's eulogy of the 6-5, 230-pound New York Nets forward.

His coffin was borne by representatives of the American Basketball Association to a graveyard on top of a hill at Necaise Crossing. Included among the pallbearers were teammates Julius Erving and Bill Melchionni and New York Nets coach Kevin Loughery.

Wendell Ladner was a hero. The tears on the faces of the children attested to that. It's not enough to say Wendell will be missed. He was a hero. He won't be replaced.

Requiem for a hero

Friends and relatives of Wendell Ladner line the way as his casket is carried out of the Infant of Prague Church at Necaise Crossing by representatives of the American Basketball Association. Ladner, a forward with the New York Nets ABA basketball team, was killed last week in a plane crash in New York which took the lives of 111 other passengers.

It's still early, so my major league predictions (April 17) still have time to come around. Each month we'll give an update of the pennant races and see how the predictions are faring.

PREDICTION: AL West - Oakland, Texas, Kansas, City, Chicago, Minnesota, California.
THROUGH MONDAY: Oakland, Kansas City, Texas, Chicago, Minnesota, California.

PREDICTION: AL East-New York, Baltimore, Boston, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Detroit.

PREDICTION: NL East - Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Philadelphia, New York, Montreal, Chicago.

The strange thing is that I consider myself a National League fan, yet it's my American League forecasts that are looking strong at this point.

Dixie Realty slugs its way to the top

Dixie Realty scored a total of 46 runs in three games to outslug its opposition and move into a commanding position atop the Bay St. Louis Babe Ruth Junior League. American Legion put together a pair of wins to move into second place in the standings as Rotary, Coast Electric, and Hancock Supply all drew blanks in the win column for the week.

The big game of the upcoming week is a clash between the two top teams, Dixie Realty and American Legion will meet Monday evening in a pivotal game in the Babe Ruth League. A Dixie Realty win will clinch for them at least a tie for the league title while an American Legion win would throw open the doors for the Legionnaires as well as the Rotary and Coast Electric ball clubs.

Dixie Realty, 17-14
Willie Carter slammed a home run, Gary Sotak tripled, and Jeff Reed added a pair of doubles as the Realtors bombed Hancock Supply 17-14 last Wednesday.

Mike Clifton of Hancock Supply was the game's leading hitter with three hits, including a triple and a double, in four plate appearances, but the nine hit Realtor assault overshadowed his performance.

Kevin McCaleb was the winning pitcher, and Clifton took the loss. Hancock Supply committed 11 errors to contribute to their downfall.

American Legion, 10-9

The American Legion scored four unearned runs in the top of the sixth inning to come from behind and defeat Hancock Supply 10-9 Friday evening in Junior Babe Ruth League action.

Hancock led 9-6 going into the crucial ninth when they committed four errors to lose their second straight game on defensive miscues.

Jonathan Lewis of Hancock

Supply had a perfect four-for-four day at the plate with a triple, a double, two singles, and five RBI's.

Kerry Geroux was credited with the mound win, and K. Polse was the loser.

Gary Sotak hurled a six-hitter and drove in three runs as Dixie Realty pounded out a 16-5 win over Rotary Friday evening.

Kerry Corr collected two hits for Rotary to lead all hitters.

The Realtors scored six times in the first inning, capitalizing on three Rotary errors. Then in the fourth inning, they broke the game open with still another six run rally.

Sotak was the winner, going the distance for the Realtors, and Greg Hutson was tagged with the loss.

Krack, Trapani's tied for second in men's league

By EDWARD FAVRE

The Krack and Trapani's are still battling for second place after Monday's games in the Bay St. Louis men's softball league. Both teams won their games and remain four games behind the undefeated league leaders, Ladner's.

Trapani's record is 9-4 with one game to go while the Krack is 8-3 with three games left to play.

In the opener Monday night, Trapani's erupted for six runs in the first inning and added four more in the fifth and sixth innings to breeze to a 15-3 thrashing of Charles & Ramona's. Trapani's got 17 hits in the game, and Glenn Blaize was credited with the pitching win.

Charles & Ramona's scored two runs in the top of fourth and a single run in the fifth to account for all their scoring. The losers gathered nine hits, and Fred Bilbo was tagged with the mound loss.

In Monday's nightcap, the Krack scored ten times in the third inning and raced out to a 13-3 win over Crosby's. The Krack collected 18 hits in the game, and Russell Fairconnetue was awarded with the mound win.

Crosby managed to score two runs in the third inning and added one in the sixth for all its scoring. The losers garnered just six hits as Jimmy Lafontaine was charged with the loss.

Ladner's had just one game scheduled last week, and they own that by forfeit over Charles & Ramona's. Now with a 13-0 record, Ladner's needs just a victory over the Sluggers July 9 to nail down an undefeated season.

Bay recaptures league lead

The Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team recaptured sole possession of first place in the Senior Babe Ruth League with an 8-3 win over the Harrison Central Red Rebels Tuesday night.

Arnold Fairconnetue set the stage for the Bay St. Louis romp when he led off the game with a triple and scored on a fielder's choice. Harrison Central tied the game in the bottom of the second with an unearned run.

After moving ahead 2-1 on an unearned run in the third, the Diamondhead nine added a pair of runs in the fourth when Adrian Favre singled and Jesse Schwartz reached on an error. Both runners advanced on stolen bases, and Vernon Powell lifted a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Favre. Schwartz scored the second run of the inning on a wild pitch.

Harrison Central had its biggest inning in the home half of the fourth when they loaded the bases on two hit batsmen and a single, and Vince Necessary delivered a two-run single to account for the Red Rebels' last runs of the night.

The big Harrison Central inning was shut off when Jerry Knight almost lined into a triple play. With the bases loaded and none out, Knight ripped a line drive down the third base line that Adrian Favre snagged. Favre stepped on third to double up the runner who had broken for the plate, and his throw to second barely missed tripling Willie Willis off the bag.

Bay St. Louis loaded the bases with none out in the top of the next inning, and Mac McDonald walked to force in one run, but an infield pop fly, a pickoff play, and a strikeout ended Diamondhead's hopes for a rally.

In the sixth, Randy Krankey extended the lead to 6-3 when he doubled Fairconnetue home with a long drive to deep right-center. The league leaders added a pair of runs in the seventh when McDonald looped a double down the right field line and scored on an error. Terry Lechler finished the scoring with a run-scoring single through the middle.

Ricky Adams went the distance and was credited with the mound win. He fanned five and passed two. Bubba Johnson started the game and took the loss for the Rebels. Willie Willis came in to relieve him in the sixth.

The win lifted Bay St. Louis to a 7-2 record and a one-half game lead over the second place Long Beach Maroons who moved into second by virtue of their 5-2 win Tuesday night over the Pass Christian Steelers.

J. Tarzetti of Rotary led all hitters with two hits in three at-bats.

Kerry Geroux was the winner on the mound, and Kerry Corr took the loss.

Geroux triples as Cards fly

Kelly Geroux of Gulf National Bank picked up two pitching wins and batted out six hits in seven plate appearances, including a record four triples in one game, as the Cards strengthened their grip on first place in the Bay St. Louis Little League.

In a second-round meeting between the two league leaders last Wednesday, Gulf National Bank thumped the Merchants Bank Expos 4-1 as Kelly Geroux and Jeff Kergosien both went two-for-three for the winners. Geroux picked up the mound win, and Steve Seymour was tagged with the loss.

The win extended Gulf National's lead to two games over the Expos with more than half of the second round completed.

The resurgent Hancock Bank Lions overcame two home runs by the opposition last Wednesday, including a grand slam by American Legion's Perre Cabell, to dump the Colts 15-9.

David Strong, also of American Legion, added a solo shot for the Colts, but the blows were not enough to sink the Lions who got two-for-three plate performances from Tommy Godwin and Melvin Barnes.

Barnes was the winning pitcher, and Strong was the loser.

Kelly Geroux rattled the fences at McDonald Field last Friday with four triples in four plate appearances as the Gulf National Bank Cards overwhelmed the Jaycees 24-3. Geroux accounted for nine RBI's, and twice tripled with the bases loaded.

Barry Powell chipped in with two hits in three at-bats for the winners.

Geroux pitched the first three innings and was credited with the mound win. Harold Netto suffered the loss.

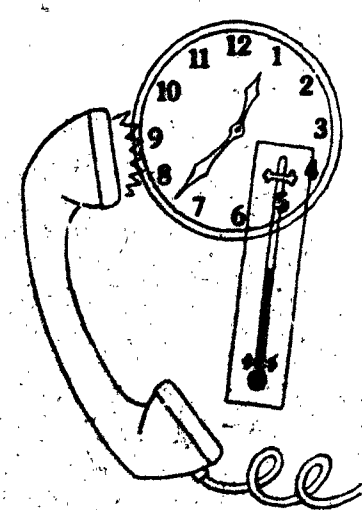

Andrew Haas unloaded his fourth home run of the season to help the Merchants Bank Expos upend the Riemann Stars 11-1 in the nightcap Friday.

Brian Adam had a perfect day at the plate with four safeties in four at-bats to aid the Expos' cause.

Watsons win two, lose one at Oak Downs

Special to The Echo
PEARL RIVER, La. - The James Watson family of Bay St. Louis won two and lost one in horse racing Sunday at Oak Downs.

Miss Coco Hill, owned and trained by Watson, had little trouble winning the 440-yard fifth race against another Hancock County horse, Barn Bars, owned and trained by Edward Patton. The winning margin was seven lengths.

Two races later, Little Cabbage, owned by Jeanine Watson, won a close one over Joker. Little Cabbage was timed in 13.24 seconds for the 220 yards while Joker was clocked in 13.265.

Joker is owned by O'Neil Cuevas, also of Hancock County.

But the third horse the Watsons entered was not as successful as the first two. Van Fol Mike, a winner of seven straight races earlier in the racing season, ran second to Tammy's Topette in the 300-yard 15th, but was placed third after a foul claim by Ralph Shubert aboard Why You was allowed.

Two of Chuck Johnson's horses recorded Class A times on an "off" track Sunday. And jockey Mike Jackson had a hot afternoon by winning seven of the 11 races he rode.

Johnson's Senior Bandito, ridden by Jackson, was clocked in 21.15 seconds in turning back Hebert Black's Dial Mark Fiesta (21.33) in the 400-yard 12th.

Tammy's Topette, also owned by Johnson, ran a 16.33 with Charlie Silkwood aboard in capturing the 300-yard 15th.

Also running a Class A time was E.C. Peebles' Salida Dee (18.78) in the 350-yard 16th against Amber Charm (19.345).

Jackson, who began riding at Oak Downs in May, upped his total number of victories to 20 with his seven-win performance.

Ralph Shubert also fared well with five wins to move closer to first place in the jockey standings. Shubert now has 63 winners while Joey Schwanhart, who rode Sunday at Columbus, Tex., leads with 77.

Ford announces the new Pinto MPG and Mustang II MPG

34mpg highway

Official test results certified by the U.S. Government Environmental Protection Agency, which rates all cars using a common dynamometer testing procedure. Competitive fuel economy results based on EPA Buyer's Guide. Mileage may vary depending on your driving habits. City mileage 23 mpg.

That's better than VW Beetle.
That's less than VW Rabbit.
That's better than Toyota Corona.
That's better than Datsun 710.

That's the same as Audi Fox.
That's better than Opel 1900.
That's better than Monza Towne Coupe.
That's better than many others.

Pinto MPG 2-Door Sedan with optional WSW tires

New Pinto MPG. The country's best-selling sub-compact economy car line now has a new model with higher mileage ratings at a lower price than the leading foreign car.

When you see our newest version of America's best-selling sub-compact, you're looking at a car that beats the VW Beetle in price and EPA test mileage. You can buy the new Pinto MPG at no increase in price. Choose from a 2-Door Sedan, 3-Door Runabout or Wagon and get the same kind of standard equipment that makes the regular Pinto so popular: rack and pinion steering, 4-speed shift, overhead cam 2.3-liter 4-cylinder engine with solid state ignition, front disc brakes, and more. Best of all, Pinto MPG comes with the same type of Lifeguard Design Safety Features found in our full-size Fords including side door beams, protective bumpers, and many others.

Pinto MPG Wagon with Squire Option and WSW tires

America's best-selling wagon now has a new high mileage model (34mpg highway). Priced lower than any foreign wagon.

Pinto MPG Wagon is EPA rated at 34 miles per gallon highway, 23 city. And you can buy it at no increase in price. Pinto Wagon already outsells every other wagon in this country, big or small. If you want good mileage in a wagon, see your Ford Dealer now.

Mustang II MPG Hardtop

New Mustang II MPG. Better EPA mileage ratings than any small luxury car (34mpg highway). Lower priced than any foreign competitor.

America's best-selling small luxury car now gives you the luxury of increased mileage. EPA highway tests got 34 miles to a gallon (23 mpg city) with a 4-speed manual transmission. With automatic transmission, the new Mustang II MPG got better mileage than many imports. You get tachometer, rack and pinion steering, steel-belted radials, floor-mounted 4-speed stick - and the same low Mustang II price. Choose from three MPG models: 2-Door Hardtop, 3-Door 2+2 or the luxurious Ghia.

MPG equipment:

Ford MPG's come with a 2.3-liter 2V 4-cylinder engine, 4-speed manual (or optional automatic transmission), a 3.18 axle ratio and catalytic converter. This is the equipment that produced these high results in the EPA tests.

Automatic transmission

30mpg highway...21 mpg city.

Official U.S. Government Environmental Protection Agency tests.

Unlike some competitors, Ford doesn't make you buy extra cost options for increased mileage. See your Ford Dealer.

Future Rebelettes

Four Coast Episcopal High School girls recently returned from a basketball clinic (June 15-21) at Ole Miss where they received instruction from some of the leading coaches in the state. Over 150 girls from all over the South attended the weeklong camp. From left to right are Shelley McNair, Alane Carlson, Jo Billups, and Christal Spencer. Coaches Bob Izzard of Fulton High School and head Ole Miss basketball coach Bob Jarvis are also pictured.

Regardless of the weather, fishing goes on. You catch them and you don't, but we are always trying. This past weekend wasn't too bad. Some salt and fresh water fish were caught by the diehards who go fishing and won't give up. Once a fisherman, always a fisherman. According to the old saying, Old fishermen never die, they only smell that way.

Had the pleasure of having my son Luke and Sue from Baton Rouge with me over the weekend with Chip, their son and Evelyn and two children. Enjoyed a wonderful fishing trip. Caught bass, also did some floundering and soft crabbing. Seemed like old times.

Did you know that the cricket, a friendly little fellow, is a top notch bream bait and so richly prized that there's a substantial price on his head at the bait shop.

He can be captured in freshly mowed grass after dark with the aid of a flashlight. A sliced Irish potato in his cage will keep him alive and healthy indefinitely. This is one way to get perch bait for nothing.

The weather gave us flounders and soft crabs a break. With the tide low at night, all night, some flounders and soft crabs were caught. The crabs were nice size and the flounders the same. Should have better luck from now on with them.

All that is needed to go floundering or soft crabbing is a light, a spear, something to put them in, and the urge to go. It's a lot of fun for the whole family.

Tide conditions and water conditions are not right for bass and perch fishing just now. Water all over everywhere and on the dirty side. If there is an East wind, stay home is my advise.

Harry Roman, Louis Decell and Hoke Ogden are mostly salt water fishermen. They reported catching some nice speckles and reds at Half Moon recently. These folks are also hunters and bird dog lovers. Taking care of bird dogs the year round is quite a bit of trouble and costs plenty but it's worth it, they say. A good dog is worth its weight in gold when it comes to hunting quail. Ask anyone who hunts them.

Ever hear the old saying, "My grandma was slow but she was old?" It's a good thing to tell your fishing buddy when he takes forever to tie on a bug when you want to fish.

It is with extreme sorrow that I report the death last Friday of Gene Lueders, a true friend. Gene was the owner of the Pirates Cave on Bayou LaCrosse and recently moved to Nicholson, Miss. Sympathy is extended to his family. He had numerous friends here.

Henry Lang, one of our best soft crabs, said that he has been catching a few soft crabs. Not like we used to, he stated. If Henry can't get 'em, they can't be gotten. Haven't heard from others like John Damborino, Teddo Thomas, John Genin, John Scafield who usually get their share of the delicious eating creatures.

If you are not a member of this club, join, you will be glad you did. It is composed of fishermen and hunters.

Summer splash

Some people really know how to enjoy the lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer.

White no-hits Bay, fans 16

Ricky White of the Long Beach Maroons threw his second no-hitter of the year and struck out all but six of the batters he faced in the 4-0 whitewashing of the Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team. The pitching gem bounced the Diamondhead nine out of first place for the first time this year and kept alive the Maroons' hopes for the Senior Babe Ruth League title.

White, who threw a no-hitter in the league opener against Harrison Central this year, fanned 16 out of a possible 21 in the seven-inning contest. Mac McDonald was the only Bay St. Louis player to reach base on the hard-throwing White. McDonald drew a base on balls in the second inning but was left stranded on first.

The Maroons scored three of their runs in the fourth inning after they loaded the bases with one out. A passed ball allowed the first run to score, and a Tim Berry single made the score 2-0. White scored the third run of the inning on a fielding miscue.

In the sixth, Berry singled home the Maroons final run and finished the game with a perfect three-for-three plate performance and two RBI's. White collected two safeties to aid his pitching cause.

Tim Favre was the losing pitcher, going the distance as he fanned six and walked three.

The Maroons stranded five runners. The win lifted the defending champions' record to 5-3.

A swell bunch of young fishermen from Hattiesburg spent the weekend fishing with us. They were Ed Butler, Bob Escudero, Roger McMuntry and John Lipscomb. We took four boats and everyone caught (green trout) bass. They do mostly fly fishing. Pat Duff was also with us. Pat tried hard but couldn't make it.

To show that some soft crabs and flounders are being caught now, Luke, Chipper, Evelyn and Pat Duff caught two flounders and a dozen soft crabs Friday night. Maybe they are beginning to give.

We had the pleasure of going fly fishing with John H. Wilkerson from Vicksburg. He was a guest of L. W. Nybo of Main Stree. John is another old fresh water fisherman.

We both went with Alden Mauffray and made a nice catch of bass late in the afternoon when the tide started falling.

Was a pleasure meeting Sidney J. Doussan, Jr. Sidney is a newcomer to the Bay but an old visitor here. He enjoys all kinds of fishing, crabbing, etc. Said he has some children and grandchildren who keep him busy going fishing with them. Know what you mean, Sid.

Had a visit from Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cass of Hattiesburg. Cass will be down this week to do some fly fishing.

Brother Perri gave us some dope on hard crabs. Said they are not giving too well. They should be coming in soon, however.

Met another good fisherman, Bill Nelson. Bill is from California and is moving South. Plans to do some fishing on the Coast. He is mostly a salt water fisherman. Plenty of it down this way, Bill.

A group of eight boys from Nicholson made a floating trip down to Jourdan River Saturday. They made the trip by canoes and flat boats paddling all the way. They are members of the Emmanuel Church of Nicholson.

Have good news for you fishermen who like to catch red fish, flounders and nice size croakers. They are being caught out of La Frances' Camp. Was informed today by Arnold Lowe, now the owner, that they have plenty of live shrimp.

Walter Bogert who is with the Mobile Medic Ambulance Service said he enjoys fishing and hunting. Can't go as much as he would like too. Usually gets some fish though when he goes.

Going to the marsh is a ticklish job. Better have a good boat and all that goes with it. I've been out there when I wished I had stayed home.

Jerry Vale did it again. Aside from his golfing pleasures, he visited the Coast and snagged 21 speckles recently. Jerry is from New Orleans but has a number of friends in the Bay.

George Winingham, Bob Lorenvier, Terry Kolezynsk, and Karen Winingham went fishing Sunday at the L&N Bridge. No fish. Something has to be wrong.

We older fishermen meet a lot of new fishermen. The last was John H. Wilkerson from Vicksburg, Miss. who is strictly a fresh water fisherman. John went Sunday with Alden Mauffray and yours truly. Not much fish but we had a wonderful time.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keating and sons come over from New Orleans each weekend. They fish, etc. nothing better than fishing they claim.

Bay rally topples Blues, 8-7

The Bay St. Louis-Diamondhead baseball team stopped its two-game losing streak with a three-run rally in the top of the seventh inning to topple the Long Beach Blues 8-7 in Senior Babe Ruth League baseball action Sunday afternoon.

Bay St. Louis jumped out to an early first inning lead when they sent nine men to the plate and scored four runs on four walks and two hits.

After David Croenne of the Blues singled home the first of his three RBI's in the bottom of the first inning, Arnold Fairconnetue of the Bay doubled to right-center and scored on a single by Bill Ginn to up the lead to 5-1.

Again the Blues cut the lead to three when Tommy Johnson singled home another Long Beach run in the bottom of the second. Long Beach then added single runs in the fourth and fifth innings to cut the lead to one and then took the lead in the bottom of the sixth with a two-run rally.

In the top of the seventh, the Diamondhead team, which has made a habit this year of coming from behind to win, pulled out still another game with a three-run rally.

Randy Krankey started the inning by reaching safely on an error, and Bill Ginn walked. Both men stole bases, and Krankey scored on an infield error. Tim Favre then singled to right, scoring Ginn with the go-ahead run, and Donald Carr raced home with the eventual winning run on a wild throw to the plate.

In the bottom of the seventh trailing 8-6, the Blues put runners on first and second with none out, but Tim Favre retired the side with the Blues picking up one run on a fielder's choice.

The win lifted Diamondhead's record to 6-2 on the year, tying them with the Pass Christian Steelers for the league lead.

David Croenne of the Blues was the only hitter to get two safeties in the contest.

Tim Favre picked up the win in relief of Adrian Favre, striking out three and walking five. Gary Lunsford took the mound loss for the Blues. He walked four and walked six.

The Blues left nine men on the base paths, and Bay St. Louis abandoned seven.

Baseball Quiz

This Week's quiz: What pitcher holds the record for the most shutouts in a major league career?
Answer to the last quiz: President William Howard Taft in 1912 threw out the first ball at the season opener for the Washington Senators. The day was hot, and Taft, who was a burly man, was very tired by the bottom of the seventh inning. He stood up to stretch, and all the people in the stands, in deference to the president also stood to stretch. The tradition has stayed with the game since then with the fans getting up to stretch before the home team bats in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Ole Miss Cagers invited to Senior Bowl tourney

The Ole Miss basketball Rebels last week announced their 26-game 1975-76 schedule which will include an appearance in the annual Senior Bowl tournament in Mobile, Alabama.

Coach Robert "Cob" Jarvis' Rebels will open the '75-76 campaign at home against Indiana State University at Evansville on Dec. 1.

In its only tournament appearance, Ole Miss will participate in the annual Senior Bowl Tourney in Mobile, Ala. The Rebs join Rice, Texas-Arlington and host South Alabama in the Dec. 29-30 classic.

An 18-game round-robin Southeastern Conference slate set to begin for Ole Miss Jan. 3 against Florida will highlight Jarvis' eighth term as Rebel coach.

Twelve of the regular season games will be played in the plush 8,500 seat C. M. "Tad" Smith Coliseum, including the nine SEC bookings.

Indiana State, the University of Minnesota at Duluth and Southern Mississippi are newcomers to the schedule.

Southern returns to the Rebel lineup after a year's absence. The Dec. 18 meeting between the intra-state rivals will be played in the Mississippi Coliseum in Jackson, the first appearance by the Johnny Rebs there since 1967.

Other non-conference foes include Texas, Texas Tech and Tulane.

Vaught also announced that the Rebels would play Memphis State during the 1977 and 1978 seasons with both games to be played in Memphis.

The Rebels finished last year at 8-18 overall and 4-14 in conference play under Jarvis and assistant coaches Bill Bolton and Ken Turner.

Four lettermen, headed by junior forward Walter Actwood, return off last winter's unit. The 6-6 1/2 Actwood was the league's fifth leading rebounder at 11.3 rebounds per game and ranked 20th in SEC scoring at 13.8.

Teeing off

Tee Ball provides seven-year-old boys in the Bay St. Louis area with an opportunity to develop a good batting swing before they go into little league baseball. Each Tee Ball player gets on at-bat per inning, whether he plays in the field or not. After each player on the team has batted, the team takes the field to defense against the opposing team. The seven-year-olds play the game each Wednesday afternoon at 3 p.m. at McDonald Field in Bay St. Louis.

Rodeo this year will honor its six founding fathers; Lester J. Plaisance, Milton Egle, Alex Plaisance, Sr., Jack Egle, "Crip" Ledet, and John Brady, Sr., by naming awards in honor of them.

Registration tickets are $10 for the 3-day event. The entrance prize will be a $1000.00 bill. In all, approximately 175 trophies will be earned by lucky anglers.

As in the past years, the Golden Meadow Jr. High School Campus will be the Rodeo Headquarters (under the circus tent). The Rodeo is scheduled for July 4, 5, & 6, 1975 (Friday, Saturday, and Sunday). July is generally considered the best month for fishing in South Louisiana Waters.

There are 5 fishing divisions in this year's rodeo: Big Game, Shoreline, Inside Waters, Freshwater and Seaba Diving.

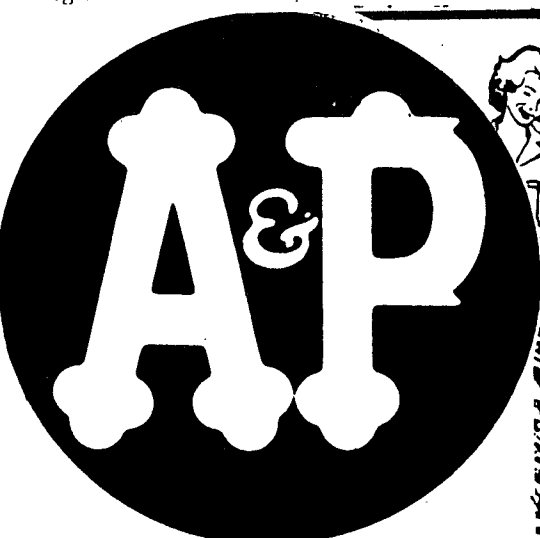

Last year 10 new rodeo records were established including one state record and two, third-place state records...but Tarpon is King to South Louisiana Big Game fisherman. Last year that top prize went to Harris Callais of Galliano who landed a 143 lb., 12 oz. catch.
